British Break Center of Line

By GLADWIN HILL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 2 (AP)—The British Second Army has broken through the center of the German line, threatening to crush Marshal von Kluge's forces in high ground south of Caen in a second great Normandy debacle, field dispatches announced today.

To the south, American spearheads knifed through German resistance soft as butter toward a "second Cherbourg"—isolation and capture of the Brittany peninsula with its two big ports of Brest and St. Nazaire.

Fanning out through Pontorson, 13 miles southwest of Avranches, Lt. Gen. Bradley's armored and doughboy columns were within 30 miles of Rennes, in the center of the Brittany peninsula baseline and the provincial capital.

(Prime Minister Churchill told Commons the Americans "might well be approaching Rennes.")

ROMMEL FACES DOOM

Although the Brittany peninsula is 100 miles wide, 150 miles long and roughly a dozen times as big as the Cherbourg peninsula, its reduction was proceeding at a faster clip.

The break in the center of the Germans' line by Lt. Gen. Dempsey's British threatened to engulf the remainder of enemy defenses which had suffered loss of 20,000 prisoners in a week and destruction or near destruction of a dozen divisions.

Dempsey's army rocked the Germans back 12 miles from Caumont, and Associated Press Correspondent Roger Greene quoted a British staff officer as declaring:

"Marshal Rommel must stand and fight on the high ground between Villers-Bocage and Caen, and I think we shall destroy him there."

Allied staff officers have quoted prisoners and French people as reporting the serious wounding, even the death, of Rommel. The Germans say Rommel still is in command of the army in Normandy, however.)

GERMANS DESPERATE

The break-through south of Caumont threatened to pocket the hills resisting Germans in the battle southwest of Caen, and already Dempsey's columns, spearheading through Le Beny-Bocage to within five miles of Vire, old Norman capital, were curling eastward in an encircling maneuver.

Greene said armored units had penetrated far ahead of the main force, toward Estry, eight miles northeast of Vire and 26 miles southwest of Caen.

The German desperation at this British threat to break out of the "Bocage country" as the Americans had done was reflected in the enemy's fanatical resistance at Tilly la Campagne, five miles southeast of Caen, where they retrieved that village from the Canadians and held on to dense belts of machineguns, tanks, mortars and artillery.

If they stood to fight they were faced by destruction, if they tried to retreat toward Paris they were almost certain to incur terrible losses at the hands of Allied air power hammering at them as they crossed bridgeless rivers and traveled broken communications.

FOUNDED BY PLANES

For three months Allied planes have pounded ceaselessly at crossings of the Seine north of Normandy and the Loire river south of Brittany which forms a triangular area coming almost to an apex south of Paris.

Already the Germans were stumbling back in retreat north of Villers-Bocage, the area almost pocketed.

The British advance also had almost drawn a sack around the Homme woods, southeast of Villers-Bocage, which the Germans had used as a base for armored sallies into Allied flanks.

Driving east from Le Beny-Bocage British tanks seized a "sausage feature" spur shown on the map as Hill 266. Simultaneously other British columns farther north stormed and captured Hill 361 and gained all the high ground east of the Homme woods, thereby completing a virtual strangle hold on a bitterly defended stretch of forest.

Turkey Breaks With Germany

ANKARA, Aug. 2 (INS)—Turkey severed diplomatic and economic relations with the Reich today and left the decision of whether the Turks will go to war against Germany up to the Nazis themselves.

The Turkish decision came after ambassador Franz von Papen reportedly made an 11th-hour attempt to maintain relations.

Announcement of the rupture was made by Premier and acting Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu in an address to the Grand National Assembly.

The Premier emphasized that the move by Turkey did not necessarily mean entry into the war as a belligerent on the side of the Allies, but implied that if the Germans gave evidence of hostile reaction the Turks might go over into the Allied camp.

(In London Prime Minister Churchill said that if Germany attacks Turkey as an outgrowth of the severance of relations, "We shall make common cause with her (Turkey) and take the German cause as well as we can in our stride.")

The cabinet's decision was approved by the National Assembly. All Turkish ships in German-controlled Bulgarian and Romanian ports have been ordered to return to Turkish waters immediately.

Blackouts begin tonight. "Friends," Saracoglu told the assembly, our ally Britain has requested us within the limits of our agreement, to break off diplomatic and economic relations with Germany. The United States government supporting the British request.

"After having closely studied the question, the government approved the request and decided

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The official German news agency DNB said today in a Berlin broadcast all German newspapers printed a picture this morning of Hitler visiting two hospitalized members of his general staff who were wounded in the recent reported attempt on his life.

According to German broadcasts, pictures of Hitler have appeared in the Nazi press with great regularity since the reported assassination attempt.

Allies Closing In on Florence

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, Aug. 2 (AP)—The dogged Eighth Army advance on Florence has regained ground lost to recent German counterattacks and British troops were closing in slowly today on the city's outer defenses despite a fanatical enemy defense rivaling the Nazi stand at Cassino.

Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's headquarters announced that New Zealanders, described in a German communique as "elite troops," are now firmly established in the village of La Romola, six and one-half miles southwest of Florence. Farther to the left an Indian division occupied Castiglione, 10 miles from the city.

Meanwhile British Guardsmen, probing forward in the hills east of Highway 2—the main road leading to Florence—reached two mountain positions without making contact with the enemy.

Other British forces moving up on the Arezzo-Florence Axis occupied Sezzate, eight miles south-southeast of Florence against mild opposition, but the Germans were in position on Monte Masso only three miles ahead.

British units moving up Highway 69 in this same general locality were within three miles of Incisa and 13 miles from Florence.

Artillery fire and patrolling were reported on other sectors of the Italian front. Two enemy attempts to send patrols across the lower Arno and infiltrate the Fifth Army lines were smashed. An official source said enemy activity behind a smokescreen east of Pisa was broken up by shellfire.

Hint Red Pledge To Mannerheim

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2 (AP)—Marshal Baron Mannerheim, Finland's new president, was believed today to have received Russian assurances Moscow is prepared to consider a new Finnish application for an armistice which would guarantee Finland's independence.

It was learned reliably the assurances were given the Finnish commander-in-chief even before he assumed the presidency from the resigned pro-German Risto Rytii.

A source whose information on events in Finland usually has proved up to the minute expressed belief contact was made with Moscow probably more than a week ago, although Swedish intermediaries.

Churchill Says: Tehran Secret Plan Winning

By LEWIS HAWKINS

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed today, the Normandy invasion and the co-ordinated Red offensive resulted from an agreement with Premier Stalin at Tehran. Churchill said Axis armies were recoiling "on every battle front all over the world."

The news from Normandy, he told a cheering House of Commons, is extremely good and "the First American Army advancing down the Atlantic coast might well be approaching the important railway center of Rennes, about halfway across the base of the Brest peninsula."

Of Italy he said: "We may hope that operations of the utmost vigor will be continued by Gen. Alexander (Allied commander-in-chief) and his Army throughout the summer and autumn."

CORPORAL HITLER AIDS

But he added that while things were going well there, "it is the Russian Army who have done the most work tearing the guts out of the German Army."

"I salute Marshal Stalin, the great champion of a great country, and I firmly believe that our 20-year treaty with Russia will prove to be one of the most durable factors in preserving peace and good order and the progress of Europe," said Churchill.

"It might well be that the Russian successes have been somewhat aided by the strategy of Cpl. Hitler. Even military idiots find it difficult not to see some faults in some of his actions."

(Hitler, on several occasions, particularly when the Nazi arms were victorious, has referred to American, British and Russian commanders as "military idiots.")

—Editor's Note.)
He said the invasion of Normandy June 6 fulfilled the promise at Tehran such a plan would be in operation in May or June.

In return, he said, the Soviet leader promised "that the whole of the Russian armies would be thrown, as indeed they have been, into the general battle in the east."

QUICKER JAP DEFEAT

Churchill said Britain's fleet in the Asiatic waters would be greatly strengthened by the end of the year and expressed belief that the interval between the defeat of Hitler and the defeat of Japan "will be shorter—perhaps much shorter—that I had at one time supposed."

Telling of the plan to augment British Asiatic naval forces, he said "it is possible, however, that the Japanese fleet will have its time taken up with the Navy of

ROBOT DEATH TOLL 4,735

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP)—Flying bombs have killed 4735 persons in Britain, Prime Minister Churchill said today. He told Commons 14,000 had been injured, 17,000 homes had been destroyed and 800,000 damaged since the attacks began June 15.

The 800,000 homes damaged apparently included those with windows broken or otherwise hit by the blasts, felt over an extraordinary wide area.

Nearly 1,000,000 persons had been encouraged to evacuate London he revealed.

He said 5340 bombs had been launched, compared with 2750 during the first three weeks, indicating the rate of launchings had dropped.

"Only result of the use of this indiscriminate weapon so far as they (the Germans) are concerned will be that the punishment after their weapons have been struck from their hands by our fighting men will be appreciably harder," Churchill declared.

Race Rows Stir Tangled Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2 (AP)—Gangs of armed Negroes roamed a Negro residential section in northwest Philadelphia today, smashed 500 windows and attacked and seriously injured eight white persons, police said, as race trouble flared in a tieup of Philadelphia's public transportation system.

The Philadelphia Transportation Co., operator of the city's network of trolley, bus and subway lines, said all its 6000 operators continued idle in resentment at the hiring of eight Negro trolley operators.

The police arrested more than 300 on charges varying from malicious mischief to aggravated assault and battery and carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Three thousand city policemen and 7000 auxiliary policemen were on duty.

Police said most of the gangs were made up of teen-age boys armed with bricks, bottles, stones, clubs, knives or guns.

Sylvester Garrett, chairman of the Region War Labor Board, left for Washington today to discuss the situation with the national WLB.

In some cases the gangs looted grocery stores, taprooms and drug stores after smashing in the windows.

UNION HEAD CHEERED

Frank P. Carney, president of the Independent Union, spoke at a mass meeting of strikers last night.

"We don't want Negroes and we won't work with Negroes," he shouted to the yelling, cheering crowd.

"There is no politics involved in this situation. This is a white man's job. Put the Negroes back where they belong—back on the roadway."

As the tieup entered its second day the city took on a prewar appearance.

More automobiles clogged the streets than at any time since the start of gasoline rationing. The OPA had authorized emergency gasoline rations for all drivers.

Usual shopping crowds were absent, however, and downtown merchants estimated unofficially that their receipts would total $1,000,000 less than normal each day of the stoppage.

LIQUOR SALES BANNED

Liquor sales were halted as a precautionary move pending settlement of the dispute.

The Navy estimated that absenteeism caused by lack of transportation reduced its production in this area by 70 per cent, while the Army reported its productive output had fallen 50 per cent.

Thousands of employees of the huge Philadelphia Navy Yard were unable to report for work.

The Army sent 50 trucks from Ft. Dix, N. J., to help provide transportation for its war workers today, but there was no immediate move by the Army to take over the public vehicles.

Dewey Starts Parleys With 25 Governors

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican presidential nominee, arrived here today for a two-day conference with 25 other governors of his party. When the train bearing the candidate's party backed into the Union Station,

89 Billion Seen 1 Year War Cost

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—Budget Director Harold D. Smith, assuming that the fighting in Europe will be over next summer, estimated today the United States will spend $388,900,000,000 for war in the fiscal year begun on July 1.

Also, he said in presenting revised estimates of federal finances for the year. Taxpayers will contribute toward that sum, the largest government "take" of record. Smith revised upward by nearly $5,000,000,000 his January estimate of net receipts—from $40,769,000,000 to $45,663,000,000. Net receipts in the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled $44,149,000,000, double the preceding year.

4—Boston American, Aug. 2

Fish has represented New York's 29th district for 24 years. Clark is completing his second six-year term.

Dewey had accused Fish of raising religious and racial issues by being quoted as saying the Jews are generally for President Roosevelt's New Deal. The Congressman commented on his victory over Augustus W. Bennett, Newburgh lawyer, thusly:

"The people of this district are opposed to outside interference of any kind. They are and have been fully competent to choose their own candidates."

Bennet already had won the Democratic and American-Labor nominations and is to oppose Fish again in the November elections, possibly also as an independent Republican candidate.

Gov. Forrest Donnell piled up a steadily growing lead over six opponents for the Republican nomination for senator from Missouri.

Aside from the Fish-Bennet contest, principal interest in New York State, in a generally quiet election center, about success of Rep. Vito Marcantonio in duplicating his effort of two years ago in winning 18th nomination on all three recognized tickets—Republican, Democratic and American-Labor. In achieving his grand slam, Marcantonio defeated Lt. Robert C. Palmer, USNR, in the Republican primary, and Rep. Martin J. Kennedy, backed by Tammany Hall, in the Democratic. Re-districting threw Marcantonio and Kennedy into the same New York city district.

the Governor appeared on the rear platform, and acknowledged the applause of a crowd, smiling broadly and waving his panama hat.

With him was Gov. Forrest Donnell, Republican senatorial nominee just named yesterday.

Dewey rode to the scene of the Governors' parley at the Statler Hotel in an open car, followed by other cars bearing members of Dewey's party and Republican leaders who came to the terminal to greet him.

15-POINT ATTACK

The arrival of Dewey was the signal for beginning a round of morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

Dewey polished the final drafts of a 15-point indictment against the New Deal's relations with local governments today as he approached the conferences with 25 other Republican governors.

Dewey laid out a series of complaints on subjects ranging from public health to veterans' affairs.

He said the two-day conference would explore these thoroughly in an effort to find a solution to what he has labeled the "disgraceful spectacle of petty bickering and constant warfare between units of government" and which he has charged the New Deal with fostering.

Fresh from a day of conferences at Springfield, Ill., with leaders of congressional, women's, Negro, farm, labor, war veterans, business and industrial groups, Dewey was heading toward what Missouri Republicans said would be the biggest and loudest reception of his mid-western swing.

COVERS WIDE FIELD

Palpably attempting to draw GOP state organizations fully behind his presidential drive, Dewey asked his fellow governors to consider and make recommendations on any of the following subjects they think require action:

Public expenditures, health, unemployment insurance administration, state versus federal administration of employment services, the sphere of national and state influence on labor, public works, highways, regulation of insurance, ownership and use of national lands, conservation of natural resources, federal versus state control of the national guard, federal and state tax co-ordination, agricultural controls and veterans' affairs.

In Springfield Dewey had the warmest reception yet on his trip, both in weather and the applause of the crowds which massed at the railroad station and lined the streets to cheer as he went by.

First Lady Attends Funeral of 'Missy'

More than 1200 persons paid final tribute today to Miss Marguerite Alice "Missy" LeHand, president Roosevelt's personal secretary for more than 20 years, at a solemn high mass of requiem in St. John's Church, North Cambridge.

Hundreds of others stood outside the church as Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by a Secret Service man, arrived to join the family and to sit with them in the second row.

The First Lady, who arrived by train from Washington this morning, was driven to the church in a limousine which the chauffeur wheeled into the circular driveway of the rectory. She was received by the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Hugh F. Blunt.

As the casket bearing the remains of her old friend arrived at the church, Mrs. Roosevelt left the rectory and joined members of the Le Hand family. She pressed the arms of two of the women and spoke to them softly.

NOTABLES PRESENT

The President's wife wore a blue faille suit, black straw hat, black shoes and black accessories. Her blouse was of white lace. A choker of pearls was around her neck.

Many men prominent in state and national affairs entered the church to pay tribute to the memory of Miss LeHand.

Among them were James A. Farley, former chairman of the Democratic national committee; Ex-Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, former Police Commr.; Joseph F. Timilty, and a number of Washingtonians who had enjoyed the friendship of the woman who had played such an important role in the White House.

BISHOP PRESIDES

Presiding at the mass was Bishop Richard J. Cushing, who intoned the absolution prayers, an office usually conducted by the celebrant. The mass was celebrated by Fr. Blunt, assisted by the Revs. John Keohane, Joseph Leonard and Exavier Williams.

Mrs. Roosevelt, whose demeanor bespoke her sorrow to all who observed her, sat with Mrs. Anne Rochoon, sister of Miss LeHand, and Mrs. Thomas E. Collins and Miss Barbara Farwell, Miss LeHand's nieces.

The President's secretary had made her home with them in Orchard st., Somerville, since her retirement several years ago.

Burial was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, where scores stood in final respect as committal services were conducted.

Polish Premier Has Reconciliation Plan

MOSCOW, Aug. 2 (AP)—Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the Polish government-in-exile presented today an initial plan for the reconciliation of his government with the Polish Committee of National Liberation now ruling the areas of Poland liberated by the Red army.

Although details were secret, it appeared that he might disavow the more bitter of the Polish exiles in London.

McGrath Death Carton Traced

Grasping at any telltale straw, state police investigating the murder of 10-year-old Frances McGrath today sought aid from the owner of a cardboard carton of salvaged tin discarded in the Norwell lane where the little victim's body was found. This appeal for help was issued after Public Safety Commr. John F. Stokes disclosed that for the last seven weeks investigators had overlooked the clue.

Joining the probe, the state police head noticed, while inspecting pictures of the death spot, that a carton was pictured near the child's body. A trip to the wooded lane revealed the carton still there, filled with tin cans carefully flattened.

The carton is a type used to hold 24 eight-ounce preserving jars. Both the carton and the crushed tins have been examined for fingerprints.

"No clue is too small to follow," Stokes said, recalling the capture of the Miller-Faber gang, which was trapped through a discarded automobile battery case. "If the person who placed the tins in the carton and then tossed them aside will come forward and name the exact date, it may help us solve this tragic case."

Meanwhile the inquest at Hingham District Court into the child's murder recessed until tomorrow because of an earlier appointment by Judge Francis Geogan.

Appeal in Noxon Jury-Fix Talk

Carrying his fight for freedom to supreme court, Deputy Sheriff William A. Ford of Lee, serving a 6-month jail term for contempt of court for conversing with a juror in the first Noxon trial, today obtained a writ of error from Justice James J. Roman.

Atty. John M. Shea of Pittsfield, counsel for Ford, based the appeal on his contention the exact wording of Ford's remarks to the juror should have been set forth. Justice Roman set Aug. 19 for hearing on the writ. He denied an application to admit Ford to bail.

Shea was advised to confer with Dist. Atty. Charles Alberti of Pittsfield, who lodged the complaint, to make certain he would be ready for the hearing.

Ford, a deputy sheriff for 12 years, was found guilty by Judge Thomas J. Hammond of interfering with the first Noxon jury. Convicted with him was Deputy Sheriff Wallace H. Kezer of North Adams who was fined $300.

Love Conquers All As Elopers Return

Love appeared pretty well on its way to conquer all today in the Maine marriage muddle of Greater Boston's six young elopers, with the return of the brides and their benedictions and the indication they would all obtain full parental blessing and forgiveness.

While some parents already had received visits from the elopers and others momentarily awaited a call, all the fathers and mothers indicated they would not seek to have the weddings annulled.

The principal worry of the newlyweds today was over the what action Portland, Me., authorities would take on charges that two of the three Hyde Park girls, both 16, falsified their ages in applying for marriage applications and waivers of the five-day law.

OFFICIAL CONFERENCE
In Portland City Clerk A. Edwin Smith scheduled a conference with County Atty. Richard S. Chapman to decide whether to ask Boston police to detain the minors on the falsification charge.

The young couples arrived in Boston after driving from an undisclosed hideaway near Old Orchard Beach as Maine police combed hotels and cabins in search for them.

The newlyweds are Barbara Browne, 16, daughter of Mr. and

Barbara Browne Betty Browne

Mrs. Walter J. Browne of River st., Hyde Park, who became the bride of Pvt. William F. Bernier, 21, of Fuller st., Dorchester; her sister, Betty Browne, 18, bride of Albert Fortin of Sprague st., Boston, and Doris Marjorie McMaster, 16, of Oak st., Hyde Park, who married Francis X. Foley of Seymour st., Boston.

The Fortins planned to return to their respective jobs today—he works at a Readville distillery and she at the John Hancock Insurance Co.—after making their peace with the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Agnes Fortin of Sprague st., Hyde Park. They will make their home with her until they can set up housekeeping.

The Foleys visited the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen McMaster of Oak st., Hyde Park, but the whereabouts of Pvt. Bernier and 16-year-old Barbara remained a mystery.

Mrs. Browne, still waiting for both her daughters, announced she and her husband had decided not to seek annulments.

Mrs. Fortin, Betty Browne's new mother-in-law, was graciously forgiving.

"They're married, and that's that," she declared. "I'm glad my boy's home and his bride is a lovely girl."

Spelling End O' Nip Endo

AN ADVANCED SOUTH-WEST PACIFIC BASE, Aug. 2 (AP)—Oscar Adm. Kitchi Endo commanded a Japanese fleet based at Wewak, New Guinea.

Allied bombings reduced the fleet to a couple of submarine chasers and some barges. Then the admiral was trapped by Gen. MacArthur's leapfrog landings at Hollandia. Endo fled into the Cyclops jungle where it is believed he perished.

Mary Curley to Wed Ex-Mate?

Mary Curley Connelly, daughter of Cong. James M. Curley, may soon rewed Edward C. Donnelly, wealthy billboard company executive, whom she divorced in 1943 after eight years of marriage, the Boston American learned exclusively today.

Reports they had already remarried were denied by Mrs. Donnelly at her Commonwealth ave. home, but she said:

"I am still devoted to Eddie and I have reason to believe he feels the same way about me."

A member of the family said the couple had become reconciled to the point of discussing arrangements for their second marriage.

The congressman's daughter did not confirm this report, although she acknowledged she and Donnelly had been going to entertainment places together.

MET ON ANNIVERSARY

"Eddie and I went out June 8, our ninth wedding anniversary," she explained. "Since then we have gone to several places together—night clubs, hotel, roof gardens, and so on."

Friends noted also the couple were together at the recent funeral of Mrs. Donnelly's uncle, John Curley, comptroller of customs.

Donnelly, asked about the report of a remarriage, said briefly, "I am not contemplating marrying again."

But he added, "Nobody knows what tomorrow will bring."

He said he and Mrs. Donnelly were "the best of friends." The billboard fortune heir joined her in spiking rumors they had secretly rewed.

WED BY CARDINAL

The marriage which united the Curley and Donnelly families took place in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, June 8, 1935, with Cardinal O'Connell officiating. It was witnessed by several thousand persons, including notables of the city, State and nation.

Later, at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, more than 2000 guests attended one of the most lavish wedding receptions in Boston's history. The gifts, representing thousands of dollars, included a pair of carved book-ends from President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

James M. Curley was then Governor of Massachusetts and his daughter, as his hostess at official functions, wore the mantle of First Lady of the State.

She and Donnelly had known each other since they were children, their families having been intimate friends for many years.

MARY CURLEY DONNELLY

EDWARD C. DONNELLY

Their marriage came to an abrupt end in Norfolk Probate Court Jan. 26, 1943.

Mrs. Donnelly won her divorce after 35 minutes of testimony before Judge James F. Reynolds. She charged her husband with cruelty.

Donnelly did not contest the suit.

Brookline Lawyer Wills Cat $60,000

"Junior" or "Buster," an eight-year-old pet tiger cat of the late Atty. Woodbury Rand, of Clark rd., Brookline, caught more than a little mouse under the chair. Under the terms of the late attorney's will, filed for probate at Dedham court today, $60,000 is left to provide for comfortable shelter, maintenance and care for the cat for the rest of his life.

In addition the will provides for $40,000 for Margaret T. Thomson, Rands' former housekeeper, who "understands the care of Buster better than anyone else and for whom he has great affection."

The will states that she should receive this compensation at the rate of $3000 annually whether or not the cat still is alive.

A codicil to the will, added to the will last May 1, revokes bequests totaling $18,000 to relatives "because of their contemptuous attitude and cruelty toward my cat."

The will, written May 25, 1943, stated that the cat, on Rands' death should be placed in a "good, private home where there were no children, dogs, cats or any other creatures which might make it unpleasant for my cat."

On the cat's death the will provides that the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., executor and trustee, procure a fitting burial place and provide a proper burial for the cat.

Italians to Stay Till Men Found for Jobs

When the Boston Port of Embarkation can get sufficient civilian labor, Italian service units will go. But until that time comes there is a vital need for these former prisoners who are helping to keep supplies flowing to the American boys who are doing the fighting.

This is the Army's answer to protests from veterans' organizations over "coddling" of former prisoners and the demand that they be shipped back to their own country.

Explanation of just what these men are doing and assertion that they are vitally needed was given to reporters by Brig. Gen. Calvin Dewitt, commander of the Boston port.

UNLOADING CARS

"There exists a most serious labor shortage, which must be met if this port is to be kept functioning as a supply source for our armies abroad," Gen. DeWitt explained.

"To partly meet this civilian labor shortage, certain war prisoner units under special status have been made available. These men are here doing essential work for which no other labor is available. They are making a most important and valuable contribution to our war effort."

I cannot emphasize that point too much."

The inspecting party was escorted through the Army Base sections where the Italians were at work at the unloading platforms where tons of material from the biggest tanks and locomotives to the smallest requirements for the men on the fighting fronts were received and loaded in ships, in the tractor repair garage, the Castle Island repair shops and the lumber salvage yards. The largest number of the Italian service unit men was unloading freight cars and moving cargo to shipside, rough work.

It was stated that during the week ending July 22 last, Italian service unit personnel worked for a total of 23,273 man hours on the huge freight movement. In the tractor garage, where the freight tractors, jeeps and other motorized vehicles are kept in repair, some of the more skilled Italians were doing work which officers said had made them invaluable at the port.

SALVAGING LUMBER

More than 250 were toiling at the lumber salvage yards, reclaiming carload on carload of lumber.

At present the former war prisoners are salvaging an average of 300,000 board feet of lumber a week, as compared with 40,000 feet per week a short few months ago. The Italian service units appeared satisfied with the work they were doing, and it was admitted they were doing well.

Each working unit has an American Army officer in command, assisted by one of the Italian officers. Relations between the two appeared amicable and cooperative. To the observer it appeared that Gen. DeWitt had not exaggerated when he claimed the work being done by the men constitutes an essential and valuable contribution to the war effort.

Held in Maine Triple Shooting

FARMINGTON, Me.—Fred Shelby, 57, Wilton barber and World War I veteran, was held for the grand jury today in default of $5000 bail on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill.

Shelby, arraigned before Municipal Judge Earl L. Wing, pleaded not guilty to the charge of shooting his sister-in-law, Ina Gowan.

Shelby's wife, Helen, 48, is in a critical condition at Franklin Memorial Hospital, another victim of Shelby's alleged gunfire.

Adm. Oikawa Named Jap Navy Staff Head

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Tokyo announced today that Adm. Koshiro Oikawa has been named chief of the Naval general staff, succeeding Adm. Shimada.

Shimada, Navy minister in the ousted Tojo cabinet, had held the post of chief of the Naval general staff concurrently since February. Domei also reported appointment of Admiral Naokuni Nomura as commander-in-chief of the Yokosuka Naval Station, Japan's number one base.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 2 (AP)—Announcement that the Indianapolis fire department had ordered $160 worth of nylon hose necessitated quick action on the part of the fire fighters.

Martin Suspect Faces N. Y. Court

Leo A. McGuinness, 29, of Roxbury, held by New York police on a Boston warrant charging him with the murder of "Pepper" Martin, former boxer and gambler, will be arraigned in court there tomorrow, when Boston officers will seek to return him here to face trial.

Also in custody under heavy bail awaiting a hearing next week in Roxbury court are Jack McCarthy, charged with being an accessory after the fact of the slaying; Louis Malone of Acton st., South End, in whose parked car Martin's body was found; John Riley of Linden st., South End, and Raymond Reed, both connected with a Back Bay garage and held as material witnesses.

Sinatra to Try Comedian's Role

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2 (AP)—Don't be surprised if the movies try to make a comedian out of that bantamweight baritone, Frank Sinatra.

The crooner admits he'd like to be a screen laugh-getter, but isn't quite sure how he'd elicit it. Neither is his studio.

So they've cast him in a Navy training camp comedy film with dancer Gene Kelly and are letting him clown just a little, to see how he does. If the public likes it, they may see more.

But Sinatra definitely is through trying to be a dancer. He spent two weeks perfecting an ultrafast dance routine with Kelly, and practically knocked himself out.

Dorothy Kilgallen writes "Broadway's Voice" every day for the Boston American.

Gas Coupons Now Mailed Here

Under a new order, effective today, gasoline ration coupons will be sent to Boston residents through the mails and the change in system probably will cause a delay of a week to 10 days in delivery, OPA announced.

Motorists were urged to file their applications, together with tire inspection forms, as early as possible with their rationing boards. After local boards have passed on eligibility, coupons will be mailed from the OPA's new central issuance office.

This procedure, already in use in other parts of the state, is expected to simplify clerical work and streamline handling of ration currency by Boston's 11 local rationing boards.

Waves 40 feet high at times erased huge sand dunes at the summer resorts of Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach even as the Coast Guard and details from nearby Camp Davis, a military post, evacuated thousands of persons in the nick of time.

Refugees poured into Wilmington, normally a city of 40,000 swollen to double its population by ship-building and other war-related activities, and created an acute housing problem. Hundreds were taken to Camp Davis.

So far as known, everyone was evacuated from the beaches. Scattered storm casualties were hospitalized in Wilmington but no one was seriously hurt. Traffic was at a standstill here, with scarcely a block not littered with fallen trees and limbs.

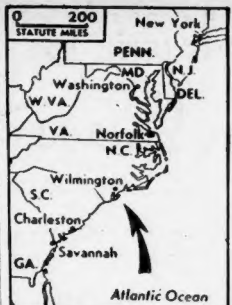

For four hours last night the area was lashed by drenching rain and 60 mile winds. Hotel lobbies and streets were crowded with evacuees and the city was plunged into darkness by a power failure which lasted 30 minutes.

Boardwalks and piers at beach resorts were washed away and cottages were damaged. At the request of Gov. J. M. Broughton, a military detail from Ft. Fisher patrolled deserted Carolina Beach today.

Stores Asked to Omit Yule Wrapping Frills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—In an early appeal to conserve paper, the War Production Board asked merchants to omit frills in wrapping Christmas gifts.

It suggested that sales personnel tell customers that wartime needs make simple wrappings necessary. Decorative effects should be eliminated if they involve extra paper, the agency said.

Loans, Education Top GI Joes' Wants

By DAVID CAMELON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Loans and education are the things uppermost in the minds of GI Joe and Jane as they face readjustment to civilian life, veterans circles in Washington reported today.

Inquiries from discharged veterans of this war about the American Legion-sponsored GI bill of rights center almost exclusively on those two topics.

Only a sprinkling of interest is shown in unemployment compensation and employment opportunity phases of the bill, a fact attributed to the acute manpower demands still coming from war industry.

Veterans apparently find it easy to get a job. So the greatest interest in the GI bill is manifested by those veterans who are trying to build future security today, either through added education, or through the purchase of a small business, farm or home.

EQUALLY DIVIDED

Veterans circles report, as well, that the interest of GI Joe and Jane is about equally divided between loans and schools.

Veterans seeking loans, however, still have to wait for the Veterans' Administration to work out the regulations under which Uncle Sam will apply the GI bill's terms.

The educational regulations and application blanks have been out for a month. While no figures are available on the number of veterans who have taken advantage of them, it is apparent discharged GI Joes and Janes are flocking to school in large numbers.

HELPFUL QUESTIONS

The American Legion has prepared a list of questions and answers, some of which follow:

"Q—Is any veteran eligible to September 16, 1946, and who were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable are eligible."

"Q—What if a man is wounded or disabled before he has served 90 days?"

"A—The 90-day restriction does not apply if he was discharged for disability incurred in line of duty."

"Q—Does the time spent in school under the Army specialized training program or the Navy's college training program count as active service under the Legion's GI bill?"

"A—Not if the veteran completed a course of study which he had begun in civil life before entering service."

"Q—Are nurses, WIVES, WACS, SPARS, and MarineWomen Reservists eligible for benefits under the GI bill?"

"A—They are, and on the same terms as men."

"Q—Where can a veteran apply for aid under the GI bill?"

"A—He may consult the service officer of any American Legion post or ask the manager or contact representative at any of the branches of the Veterans' Administration."

If I am doing war work, I shall give the best that is in me, every minute, every hour, every day that I am needed, until the enemy is crushed.

Army Admits Huge Waste on City Dump

By B. A. McKELVIE

(Copyright, 1911, by Hearst Publications, Inc., Seattle Post-Intelligencer Department)

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 2.—When I first drew attention to the destruction of usable materiel on the U. S. Army dumps at Dawson Creek and Fort St. John, British Columbia, Col. Frederick K. Strong, Jr., commanding the Northwest Service Command, at Edmonton, Alta., vigorously denied it.

Within the past week, however, he has admitted there may have been justification for criticism.

An arrangement has been reached with the Canadian government, he explained, under which the Canadian government will take over salvage goods.

SALVAGING THE DUMP

Meanwhile, tens of thousands of dollars' worth of good merchandise has been lost. Civilians combed the dumps, recovering what they would. One dump near Ft. St. John that I visited was swarming with people picking over a pile at the foot of the 1000-foot wide incline for stoves, heaters and furnaces.

"How many stoves and heaters have been thrown over here?" I asked one man who had just acquired a fine one; "more than a hundred?"

"Oh, yes, more than that."

This man had a big stove in perfect condition. He explained that as each stove was removed from the supply stores, it was hit with a sledge hammer and a part was broken.

"But, you see," he went on, "there are so many of them and the same part is not broken on each. The door on this one was broken. I looked around for another of the same make and took the door off it. One of the legs was smashed, so I got a new leg off another. Now I have a brand new stove—and there's never been a fire in it."

BROKEN AIR CHAMBERS

I moved off to another part of the dump where I saw unbroken crockery. There were large circles for hot air furnaces, but the cast iron has been broken by a blow from a sledge hammer."

Much heavy equipment is being shipped back to the United States for disposal.

An American officer deplored the fact that equipment such as trucks, bulldozers and compressors would be removed from the north where such machinery is essential.

But, he explained, the Canadian government was adamant. The material had been brought in duty-free on condition it be removed when construction was finished.

the United States, which is already double the size of that presumptive power."

Churchill said he did not believe the invasion of France "could have been executed any earlier."

"We had not the tackle," he said.

Churchill asserted Gen. Eisenhower "is a genius for bringing all his Allies together and proud to consider himself an Allied as well as a United States commander."

He said the Normandy invasion and the new Russian offensive had been carried out on schedule, on coordinated plans first broached at Quebec and agreed upon at Tehran. Despite the worst June gales in 40 years, he declared, "very large armies, with about one vehicle to every four or five men were landed" across the beaches of France although the Germans had 160 submarines and other obstacles in their path.

LOSS HALF OF ENEMY'S

Gen. Eisenhower and his ground commander, Gen. Montgomery, new "stand at the head of an army equipped as no army has ever been equipped before."

All this was not accomplished without loss, he said, adding:

"We have inflicted losses on the enemy about double those which we have suffered ourselves."

When the invasion started, the American and British-Canadian forces were about even in strength. United States forces now are larger, he disclosed.

The losses of the British and Canadians were proportionately about the same as those of the Americans and "it has been shared and shared alike all along the front."

Answering persistent parliamentary criticism of British tanks, he declared both the Cromwell and Sherman (American type used by the British) were excellent and that hundreds of Shermans now are pouring into Normandy armed with 17-pounder guns.

CHURCHILL TANK TOUGH

He said Gen. Montgomery reported both of Germany's vaunted tank models, the Tiger and Panther, were "unreliable and vulnerable and that the 17-pounder could go right through them."

Continuing amid intermittent laughter, he said that the "notorious Churchill tank is the most thick-skinned in Europe, and has also won commendation. It is coming into its own."

"The Churchill can be either defensive or offensive," he concluded, to a fresh burst of mirth.

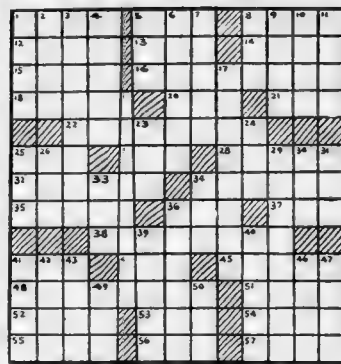

Churchill said there was great improvement in British relations with Gen. Charles De Gaulle's French Committee, "largely as the result of careful spadework of Mr. Eden and the great success attending Gen. De Gaulle's visit

Speak Up, Fritz

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(INS)

The London Daily Mail today revealed that Fritz, a captured German war dog, had been flown from France to Britain to be "interrogated" at the British war dogs school.

It is believed that useful military information can be gleaned from studying the dog's reactions and determining the kind of training he had received.

The blood bath that he so narrowly escaped at Hitler's hands at an earlier period.

He did not explain this reference to internal strife within Germany. While saying these disturbances "must shock the foundations, the confidence of the people and the loyalty of the armies," he concluded on this cautious note:

"Potent as may be these manifestations of internal disease, decisive as even they may be one of these days, it is not in them that we should put our trust but in our own strong arm and the justice of our cause."

Call on Firms To Save Cartons

Despite excellent local salvage records, the waste paper situation has reached a crisis so serious that no more will be available for civilian use, Joan T. Kiley, regional WPB salvage director, declared today.

Kiley's warning, especially directed to stores and business establishments, was included in an announcement that the government has ordered 35 per cent of all fine paper, and 100 per cent of moisture proof containers reserved for military use. Kiley's statement said:

"The practice of tearing cartons open must be abandoned for the duration. Silt them open with a knife or flat stick. Open them carefully. Flatten them out and return them to the firm that shipped them. Otherwise there will be no more cartons at all."

"The paper shortage, about which we have issued warnings, is here. It is getting worse. In all probability we will soon be back in the days when many articles were shipped in bulk in barrels."

"Many stores are already out of paper bags and wrapping paper. Customers are urged to take their own containers to stores. The only solution to the situation is for everybody to save every scrap of waste paper."

Next Saturday there will be a waste paper collection in Holbrook. Sunday brings collection in Medford. Somerville, Waltham and many Cape Cod towns.

Wounded Made Fit For Full Field Duty

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ENGLAND—The morning's journey ended at a "Rehabilitation Center," and the colonel in charge defined rehabilitation as "that phase of a soldier's convalescence between hospitalization and full field duty."

This is no hospital, in its strict sense. It is a military camp under medical and surgical supervision. The wounded are not "patients." They are "trainees." They are not permitted to loaf around and feel sorry for themselves. They are kept so busy from reveille to taps and have no time for worry.

A TYPICAL CASE

"Trainees" are graded from E to A. An E case, for example, is a soldier with arm or leg, or both, in a cast. He is graded weekly from E to D to (etc.). Few remain here more than 10 days after leaving the hospital. Then they report back to their original companies.

It was discovered in the last war that a wounded soldier, permitted to lie around a hospital for months, being waited on hand and foot and getting out of touch with all things military, couldn't "take it" when he went back to the front.

Remember the song: "I don't want to get well, I'm in love with a beautiful nurse?"

MANY BACK TO DUTY

Not so in this war. Since D-Day many of the wounded have been returned to full field duty—fit as they were before battle.

Psychological effect is tremendous. G.I.'s who saw Joe Doakes carted out of Normandy with leg, arm or head smashed are pleasantly surprised when they see the same Joe return, fit as a fiddle, after a short hospital and convalescence period.

Physical training plays a paramount role in a rehabilitation center. There are 60 sergeants, many of them Silver Star heroes, chosen specifically for the task of bringing these men back.

If a soldier has a shoulder wound, why let the rest of his body get out of condition? So calisthenics, sports and specialized equipment—orthopedic bicycles, circular rockers for ankle cases, nautical wheels for injured shoulders—are brought into play.

PUT IN FULL DAY

The day starts at 6:20 a. m., lasts until 5 p. m. In addition to the physical training, there are classes in radio, machine gun assembly and the like. French, Spanish and German are taught.

Airborne troops bunk with medics, quartermasters, artillery, etc. In this way, respect is gained for all branches of the service. A and E grades also bunk together for psychological reasons.

Companies are formed, and each strives to outdo the other in cleanliness, landscape gardening around their brick huts and all.

"Through these portals pass the best damn soldiers in the world," read signs on several orderly rooms.

As the U's step up the ladder to D, C, B and finally to A, they are given a 12-15 miles test over a back-breaking obstacle course, to prove ankles, arms and mended neatly. Finally, they take part in assault problems, with TNT used so that they get accustomed to shell-fire again. When they report back to their original companies they are good as new.

For recreation there are the various sports—golf, archery, volleyball, and it is interesting to watch a group of soldiers with arm in sling play volleyball. Musical clubs are formed, and though the trainee list is transient, the quality of the musical clubs remains high. There is a Red Cross center whose 3000 books are too few for the demand, whose craft shop is overworked.

In this Red Cross center, gaily decorated with murals painted by the "trainees," works a fair, young blonde from Hartford. She is in radio stations in both Hartford and Springfield.

ter of Mrs. Bessie Phillips. She graduated from Weaver High and in the Air Corps (operations) and a step-sister, Muriel Phillips, with the WACs in No. Africa. She's pleasant and popular with the trainees.

Boston American, Aug. 2-13

"This is my first assignment away from London, and I love it," she said.

No doodle-bugs reach this part of Britain, and it is an ideal spot for a convalescent. There are several D-Day boys from the Bay State here, others here because of other injuries. I'll tell you about them tomorrow.

"Why is there a shortage of new telephone facilities?"

Here is a natural question, and here is the answer.

Practically all telephone manufacturers have been working to produce communications equipment for war. The fighting forces use vast quantities of telephone facilities. The new 45,000 ton USS Missouri, for example, carries about 1200 telephones, 350 miles of telephone wire, and a battle announcing system.

Aside from actual telephone instruments and wire, essential materials like copper, rubber and aluminum have been needed in the production of planes, guns, ammunition, and other direct supplies for war.

So the reason why there aren't enough telephone facilities here, is that they are going over there.

Then, too, war has made many more people need telephones than ever before. There are immense war industries to supply, the administrative organizations of the armed forces, and other war-time governmental agencies. Furthermore, as a matter of protection, the War Production Board has limited new telephone installations in especially congested areas where our switchboards are carrying heavier loads than they were designed for.

The manufacture of a limited number of telephone instruments has recently been authorized, but it may be months before telephones are produced and ready for civilian use.

To those people who are waiting for telephone service, we can only say this: We can't tell you just when your telephone will be installed, but we do promise that your application will not be forgotten, and that it will be filled in its proper turn.

Governor Dewey Right; Upholds Constitution

GOVERNOR THOMAS E. DEWEY, the Republican candidate for President of the United States, is EXACTLY RIGHT in saying:

"Anyone who injects a racial or religious issue into a political campaign is guilty of a disgraceful, un-American act."

He has served sharp notice that racial, religious and class antagonisms are OUT of this campaign as far as he is concerned.

"I have always fought that kind of thing all my life and always will," said Governor Dewey in one of his first declarations of campaign policy.

Governor Dewey has thus demonstrated the only form of intolerance of which he is capable—intolerance FOR intolerance.

He has given guidance and inspiration to the American people.

He has given example and challenge to his political opponents.

QUITE EVIDENTLY, Governor Dewey BELIEVES in the Constitution of the United States.

The part of the Constitution which is the CORNERSTONE of all American liberties is the Bill of Rights—and the safeguards therein afforded against the evil practices of racial, religious and class discrimination are the essentials of our American heritage.

Governor Dewey believes that our traditional and wholesome American ideals are our highest ideals and should be our PERMANENT ideals.

Governor Dewey accepts it as his duty, and asserts it as his desire and intention, to MAINTAIN the high ideals of his country by every means in his power.

He has maintained them as Governor of the great state of New York.

He can be depended upon to maintain them as President of the United States, if he should be elected President.

GOVERNOR DEWEY is in CONTRAST with President Roosevelt, in the unqualified and uncompromising faith he has in the Constitution. Mr. Roosevelt has never considered himself bound by the Constitution.

He has spoken of it as an outmoded document belonging to the "horse and buggy" age.

He has often assumed and exercised powers in CONFLICT with it, and even in VIOLATION of it—according to subsequent findings of the Supreme Court of the United States.

But it is the contrasting view of Governor Dewey that it is the Constitution which GUARANTEES our American principles, and that it is only through faithful adherence to the Constitution that our practicable policies of liberty and equality can be actually productive of freedom and equal rights.

Governor Dewey has taken his strong stand against racial and religious discrimination in politics because he knows it is one of the basic principles of our freedom, and he knows that if we depart in one particular from our basic principles of freedom we will soon find that we have jeopardized our EVERY RIGHT AND EVERY LIBERTY.

His election as President would provide national assurance against racial distinction, religious discrimination and class antagonism.

Such an assurance should be the guiding star of our democracy, the invariable rule and practice of our representatives in office, and of our whole people—for only so can we have a happy and peaceful people, secure in their liberties.

Washington Scene . . . By George Dixon

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—Now that members of Congress are returning to their legislative duties after a short vacation, the time would seem to be ripe for a close scrutiny of the OPA's new method of pricing pickles.

I feel that Congress and I have sidetracked the scrutiny of pickles long enough. You can only sidetrack a pickle so long. I am well aware that it is a touchy subject but temporizing only aggravates things.

It is better all around to take the bull by the horns. I do not exactly know why this should be so, because I cannot understand how taking a bull by the horns would achieve anything on behalf of pickles, but you can see how acceptable this would be to both political parties.

What we need most, as we approach the era of postwar problems, is more of the spirit of give and take. For instance Mr. Dewey, I am sure, would be glad to give Mr. Roosevelt a pickle if Mr. Roosevelt would take it.

This would create a spirit of bonhomie—which is a well known southern dish listed on menus as bonhomie grits and gravy.

The real reason, however, why I wish Congress to give further study to pickle pricing (ah there, Peter Piper and your peck of pricing pickles) is that this is what it says:

"The new pricing system correlates the pricing of fresh cucumber pickles by processors with the method used in figuring processor ceiling prices for pickles made by cucumbers that are first cured in salt brine."

"Until now a processor of fresh cucumber pickles determined the weighted average price per dozen containers, F. O. B. factory which he charged for the same item during the first 60 days after the beginning of the 1941 pack.

"To that he adds 8 per cent to cover cost increases other than for cucumbers and increase for fresh cucumber costs at the rate of 40 cents per bushel."

All I can say is that unless Congress does something I shudder to think what will happen to the postwar cucumber.

SPEAKING of cucumbers: I see by the public prints that Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce may not continue her political career.

Let me hasten to explain that the only connection I admit between cucumbers and Mrs. Luce is that I am forever being informed that a cucumber is the thing she is as cool as. I have taken a firm stand on this and will not welcome any attempts to talk me out of it.

The paper said that Mrs. Luce may step out of the re-election picture because of an interneine feud in Connecticut's Republican state circles. I cannot understand why a little thing like a feud would bother Mrs. Luce, but that is what the paper implied.

I hope and trust there is nothing to the story, and that Mrs. Luce remains with us. Her departure would leave an aching void.

Moreover, it would be very hard on most of Washington's lady correspondents. They would be in grave danger of spontaneous combustion if every time they felt an extra attack of cat-tiness coming on they could not work it off on the Connecticut charmer.

On the Side

To be a lovely and a fearful thing;

For all of theirs upon that die is thrown.

ABOVE is a very pessimistic view of the situation discussed. When most women are disappointed in love they do not consider that is the end of the world for them. They marry their second love and usually live happy ever after. As for the first love, they take a "thanks for the memory" attitude, or so state our Horses & Women experts who have made a study of the situation.

AS FOR HARBORING animal pets, it may be a feminine resident of London holds the world record. In her house she has 30 birds, 19 dogs, 10 cats,

HIS IDEAL: Why should a man seeking a matrimonial mate object to a girl who wears a giraffe? This question has baffled our Horses & Women Department. I DO NOT SUPPOSE you will care to accept this without proof, but it is a positive fact that a war veteran applying for retirement pay must be asked which he would prefer: $157.50 a month or $50 a month.

I did not quite believe it myself, but Timothy Sheehan, chief of the special claims division of the Veterans Administration, assures me it was absolutely so and no kidding.

It seems there are two separate and distinct laws which govern the payment of benefits. Therefore, every veteran putting in application is given a copy of the following to guide him in making his choice:

Pursuant to applicable laws where entitlement exists to more than one separate benefit it is your privilege to elect either to continue to receive retirement pay of $157.50 monthly under public 18, 76th Congress, or to receive pension at the rate of $50 monthly under public 2, 73d Congress, as amended by public 113, 75th Congress.

Mr. Sheehan informs me that most of the veterans seem to be stand-patters, if not outright hidebound Tories. They prefer the old $157.50 a month.

THE WAR PRODUCTION BOARD has granted can opener manufacturers permission to use twice as much iron and steel as formerly in making can openers.

The WPP disclosed that because housewives have been removing the bottoms as well as the tops of cans on behalf of the salvage drives that can openers have worn out twice as fast.

I hope this column has not been too heavily informative. I do not want any of you kiddies to become over-educated.

ily. Therefore, I am looking for a girl to marry who does not use rouge, lipstick, nail polish or wear a giraffe. I would prefer that she neither smoke nor drink hard liquor, is of cheerful temperament and has a good sense of humor. I do not care for thin women. I would like my wife to be about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weigh about 160 pounds."

WOMEN, ETC.: Observed Crosby Gaige: "Women, to put it bluntly, just haven't made good in the kitchen. After some thousand years of trying they have failed to acclimate themselves to cookery. For most of their age it remains an unimproved routine of domestic drudgery. It is no accident that the great chefs of all nations have been men."

BRIEFLY: Am paying off plenty in stogies right now. I said Nancy Coleman was the first moving picture actress to become the mother of twins. I forgot about Dixie Lee and Gail Page, who both figured in double trouble blessed events . . . Note several American cities are getting ready to compete for the title of "The Style Center of the World." After the war the "Style Center of the World" will again be in Paris and the style center of the United States will be New York city . . . Remember Wendy Hiller in "Pygmalion"? I have been waiting ever since to see this brilliant actress in another picture. When will I have the opportunity? My patience is about exhausted. I like Wendy, as an actress, better than Greer Garson.

BUSINESS: Forty-eight per cent of the shops in Britain have a yearly turnover of less than $10,000. Eighty per cent of those shops are privately owned. I think it is wonderful for a man to be in business for himself. I am always interested in organizations which have been in the same family for a long period and have been handed down from father to son for many generations.

"No wonder we're lost! WHERE the devil did you get this map of northeastern Illinois?"

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2—Felix Jackson is having Anita Loos prepare "Merry, Merry Marriage." Deanna Durbin's coming picture. Anita, who is one of the most brilliant comedy writers in America, moves to Universal today on leave of absence from 20th Century-Fox to prepare this sophisticated comedy for Deanna, who will make it after she finishes "Lady on a Train."

When I talked with Felix Jackson, he said the reviews on "Christmas Holiday" were about fifty-fifty, but it is doing very well at the box office. "I felt," he said, "that Deanna should get out of the Cinderella type of picture and so it was my suggestion she do a sophisticated play. She'll sing modern songs in 'Merry, Merry Marriage,' but it is not a musical."

JOHN FARROW is very eager to bring his book, "Damen the Leper," to the screen as a postwar film. He has definite ideas as to how he wants to do the picture and he has asked Paramount to buy it from Charles Koerner, who purchased the rights when John was at RKO. He wants to make it a "mood" picture with music played throughout.

TWO of the nicest people in our town are Harry and Ollie Carey, and right now they are very happy over two approaching events in their family. Their son, Dobie, the used to have freckles as big as the cowboy hat he loved to wear when he was a boy, will be married in three weeks to Marilyn Fix, daughter of Paul Fix, John Wayne's dialogue director and also co-author of "Tall in the Saddle." Dobie is in the hospital corps of the Navy. But wedding plans aren't all the excitement in the Carey clan. Their daughter, Cappy, who is married to Al Taylor, will shortly make Harry a grandpa. Which reminds me that time certainly has a way of sneaking up on all of us.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Susan Hayward says all the gossip she and her bridegroom, Jess Barker, are doing a Fannie Hurst and living in separate apartments is a Hollywood fable. Susie says Jess kept his apartment because hers is too small to take care of all his trunks and luggage, but has moved in with her. "We are looking for a bigger place," she said, "and then we won't have two houses." Susie says she is still on her honeymoon and very, very happy. So that ought to stop all this chit-chat.

A LINE OR TWO: Billy Wilder, Ray Milland and Charlie Brackett are heading to New York soon to give the inhabitants of Third ave. the surprise of their lives. Billy will shoot the famous typewriter peddling scene in "Lost Weekend" right on the spot. Bet the city fathers will have to call the cops, for this is the first movie scene filmed on a New York street in ages. . . Warners wanted to pull a "stunt" and hold the preview of "Arsenic and Old Lace" in a haunted house. But they had to give it up because with the housing shortage what it is there just "ain't" any haunted houses—the folks move right in with the ghosts!

CHRISTOPHER, LORETTA YOUNG'S and Col. Tom Lewis' baby, almost appeared on his parents' fourth wedding anniversary. When he made known he was about to arrive, Loretta, Tom, Polly Ann Young and Mrs. Young were having dinner to celebrate Tom's and Loretta's wedding anniversary. The young man appeared at 6 o'clock the following morning. Tom says he's beautiful—that he's 22 inches long, weighs 7 pounds 12 ounces and that his mother never looked more beautiful. A great day for Hollywood babies. Gena O'Neill, Charlie Chaplin's 19-year-old wife, talked over the telephone at 5:30 p. m. and said she was going to wait until Wednesday to go into the hospital. At 7, she was rushed to St. John's and at 11:14 her daughter was born and it wasn't a Caesarean as she had expected.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Vivian Blaine, 20th star, and Manny Franke, agent, have confided to a few friends they will wed. He has just gifted her with a diamond wrist watch; Mrs. Arthur Rubenstein, wife of the famed composer, will have her third child next winter; Greta Garbo has ordered a complicated burglar alarm placed in the house she has rented. She isn't taking a chance of having another prowler around; Clark Gable, as tanned as I have ever seen him, at Myrna Loy's cocktail party with Kay Williams, who looked very cute. He says he has been doing his own cooking while his servants are on vacation. Also saw Ronald Colman at Myrna's. He told me he's bringing Benita and little Juliet home today. Arthur Hornblow and Bubbles Schuss are leaving as we arrived. He and Myrna are still very good friends; Clifton and Mabel Webb had a huge garden party. Everyone was there — Tallulah Bankhead, Joan Crawford and Norma Shearer. The Danny Kayes, the Sam Goldwyns, L. J. Mumme Donahue, who is visiting his cousin, Barbara Hutton Grant (Mrs. Cary), the Charles Laughtons and scores of others; Rita Beery, Wally's ex, is seeing a lot of Col. Al Bodie, the U. S. air hero; 'tis said the new house Bob Alda bought was a bonus from Warner; Dick Powell and June Allyson were out again together tonight at Ciro's; keep your eye on that romance; Sheila Ryan is currently attracting Lt. John Carroll. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Cereals Popular Items On Menus for Any Meal

By MARTHA LEE

GOOD NUTRITION dictates that every breakfast be built around the accepted basic pattern: fruit, cereal, eggs, milk, some form of bread and butter. Cereals, economical and plentiful, are an important part of the breakfast menu.

Cereals are becoming increasingly popular for luncheon and supper, too. Tossed cereal bowls are the latest in summer menu news. They are simply prepared by tossing together in your favorite salad bowl, three or four ready-to-eat cereals such as wheat flakes, corn flakes, rice cereal and oat cereal. Luscious, fresh summer fruits may be mixed with the cereals or served atop each individual bowl.

Cereal, fruit and milk is a perfect dish to combat the heat. Free from foods that make you feel hotter after eating, this combination satisfies both the appetite and a good share of the day's nutritional requirements. Whole grain, restored and enriched cereals served with milk contain important amounts of protein, the essential B-complex vitamins (thiamine, niacin, and riboflavin) and minerals.

In going over the following menus you will notice how we have included cereals both as a main course for summer luncheons and suppers and as a dessert—as well as for a breakfast mainstay.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Tuesday—I think sometimes we are prone to forget, in the excitement of watching the fighting fronts, that much of great importance to the future is being done in other theaters. Men are going through great hardships, sometimes just to protect an area whose fall into enemy hands otherwise would make our position hazardous. This is true, of late, in the whole Caribbean area, and in Greenland, Iceland and Newfoundland.

Sometimes they are not only protecting an area, after having fought hard to acquire it, but are also doing development work which is important from the transportation standpoint during the war, and may be important to our economic development in the future. In this category I think we can put the Aleutians and Alaska.

SOMEONE KINDLY sent me a letter, written by a boy long ago, when the Alcan highway was being built. The difficulties which the civilian workers and the soldiers encountered were not merely difficulties of terrain. The cold and the loneliness must have been trying experiences. The men must have felt, in addition, that they would get little or no glory for all the hardships and dangers which they went through. We should be, as a nation, deeply grateful to these men, and so I am going to give you an excerpt from this really remarkable letter.

"My days are completely full from morning until night... I really feel that I have been very fortunate in experiencing the trip over the new Alaskan highway while it is yet in its primitive stages. The road is broken through extending from the United States into Alaska, and transportation over the route is now moving."

Beauty

LOVELY HANDS are a definite assurance of a good impression... and one of the prime requisites of fastidious grooming... Intriguing Warner Starlet Angela Green always smooths her hands into loveliness... knowing full well the expressive beauty which they have.

Hands Clues to Talents

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

VERY OFTEN THE DRAMATIC you is your hands. They can be expressively illustrative of your whims and fancies... of your moods and moves... and they tell time, too... your age, Milady!

Artist or artisan? Your hands... say the experts... are clues to your talents. Long, slender hands mean artistry... a square, angular hand indicates an orderly mind... but big or little, square or slim, your hands speak in your favor if they're groomed to perfection... if they're lily-white and alabaster smooth... if they're ageless hands.

Production men in war plants make a definite appeal to girl workers to "keep hands pretty" for in jobs requiring skill and co-ordination... smugs and hangnails slow down nimble fingers.

So it is more than simply essential grooming that a girl's hands today must be letter perfect... and for the social side of life lovely to look at. Not enough care is devoted to hands... Most often we think that if we keep them clean with frequent soap latherings and water rinsings that that is sufficient. Well, it may be for cleanliness... but it certainly isn't enough hand charm and loveliness.

GROOM HANDS CAREFULLY

Hands should be groomed as carefully as your face. They should be creamed and massaged for softer skin... for improved contour... for preservation of wrinkle-free skin... in short, for ageless beauty. Hands are always exposed... at the dinner or cocktail table... toying with a cigarette or a long-stemmed glass... and they speak more than words... can speak volumes for fastidious individuality.

Nail polish may bring color to the tips... but let us not neglect the hands... let us keep them ever beautiful with an exquisitely-textured hand cream that is not sticky and vanishes instantly... that used as often as you like will give them that charm you've envied in others...

For the name of this de-luxe hand cream, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Life With Him Unbearable

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I'm a young girl of 16, and sometimes much too old for my age. I have no use for men, after seeing the way my father has insulted all of us. My father has never bought me more than a pair of shoes. We all wore hand-me-downs until we were old enough to earn them, at the ages of 13 or 14. One sister married at 17, a brother joined the Merchant Marine at 17. Another brother wanted to get an education, but he left school after one year in high and he wants to leave home. I want to have a home. Ever since I can remember I've wanted a nice home, but my father puts a damper on everything and seems to get worse as the years go by.

The necessities in our home are supplied when my mother works, and the more money we put into the home, the less father does. There are four of us at home, between 16 and 8 and we all agree we want to leave home and start out for ourselves. We feel we must have the advice of someone like you. M. W. You don't tell me in this plan you have in view of making a new home whether your mother is included. Your ages are between 8 and 16, and it would be difficult, practically impossible, to establish a home unless some adult person assumed the responsibility. Lease for a house or flat would have to be signed by someone legally of age.

I can understand how unhappy a home, such as you describe, must be. And why some fathers alienate the affections of children by such a course of conduct baffles me. In his old age a man must want love of someone—why not that of his children?

Consult your mother about this step. What is the earning capacity of you children? Will it maintain a home?

Re-marrying In Church

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN Will you please tell me if it is correct to have a wedding in a Catholic church (with ushers, bridesmaids and flower girl included) after a civil ceremony has taken place? I had planned to have this kind of church wedding, but my fiancé had such a short furlough that we had a civil ceremony.

If a church wedding is permissible, could we have attendants, as I have described above, send invitations, have a reception? And what type of costume would be correct? H. T.

Your priest is the adviser to whom you should go, and immediately, to consult with him about what you have done, what you must now do to regain your standing in your church, and to get his advice about your church wedding. As a Catholic, you must know how your church regards a civil ceremony, and you must follow the clergyman's advice and direction.

Satin Suits, Vivid Blouses

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE fall collections of designers who make our ready-to-wear styles show a lot of very important satin suits worn with vivid blouses. These are slated for party wear, day and evening, and they are very grand looking. "Winter satin" is the slogan under which these suits are being introduced.

Among the grandest of the satin suits are the tunic suits, like the one in our sketch. This is black satin, very stiff and heavy, and the tunic is closed down the front on black jet-embroidered buttons. The skirt is very narrow and simple, and the blouse is positively dazzling, being made of vivid red, violet and blue brocade.

It is draped to a high neckline and tied there, and again at the waistline, where it goes over the top of the skirt.

Smart Set Tea at Cape Cod Home

THERE'S GREAT ANTICIPATION in fashionable Cape Cod circles over the tea Mrs. G. Wood Taylor is giving tomorrow afternoon at "Stonehurst," in Hyannisport, for Mrs. Raymond Grant Swing.

The radio commentator's wife comes to the Cape in the interest of Save the Children Foundation, only voluntary international organization for child welfare, and will speak to Mrs. Wood's guests about Europe's children. Among those invited are Mrs. Harry T. Hayward, Mrs. Henry Laughlin, Mrs. Guido Ferrara and her mother, Mrs. ZeBarney Phillips, Mrs. Thomas Thacher, Mrs. Arthur Beale, Mrs. Charles Ayling, Mrs. Clare Draper and Mrs. George Bissell.

MRS. HOWARD LAPSLEY is vacationing for two weeks from her job in Washington and visiting her mother, Mrs. John Halliwell, at Wing's Neck. Since the tragic death of her Navy husband in a plane crash two years ago Mrs. Lapsley has plunged wholeheartedly into work for the branch of service for which he gave his life.

Glimpsed Mrs. Peter Hayden Clark (Gunny Marston) subwaysing to the Junior League in a gay green linen dirndl lavishly trimmed with peasant embroidery and Mrs. Jack Goodrich, whose Captain husband is overseas, stopping for hard-to-get camera film. Her lovely blonde hair and Manchester-by-the-Sea tan were accented by a modish lime green dress, diamond clipped fuchsia beanie and fuchsia pocketbook.

MORE ROMANCES linking the North and South are revealed today in roles from Dan Cupid's diary. Honeymooning in the South are Mr. and Mrs. H. Warren Beard who were married at a Virginia.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress, toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 900-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. K-222, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

Handyman of Swing Here

Lionel Hampton, famed Handyman of Swing, brings his carefully chosen band to the RKO Boston stage tomorrow for a week's engagement. Running tandem with the new stage show will be the stirring Jean Gabin-starring film drama, "The Impostor."

Band Leader Hampton is probably best known as a drummer, being an ace with the drums, although his skill with the vibraphone puts him in the top drawer classification, too. His musical organization is the delight of the rugratters and musically knowing swing fans as well. His music, not all hot, is actually more sweet than sving.

Featured band members are Fred Beckett, Rubel Blakely and Dinah Washington. Comics Pops and Louie and the two Zephyrs, slow-motion dance stylists, help round out this slick all-sepia bill. The ill-fated French actor, Gabin, impersonates a regenerated criminal of unpredictable emotional moods in "The Impostor."

He escapes from a bombed French prison, assumes the identity of a sergeant killed in action and makes his way to Africa to join the fighting French. Ellen Drew is the sultry, lovely heart interest. Boston's Richard

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—For those who like dance music, but don't understand—or can't endure—that thing called Swing, Guy Lombardo is an all-time favorite. His band style is decidedly peculiar—he plays so that you can recognize the tune. . . . D. K. GUY LOMBARDO SAYS:

When Chauncey Sparks, Governor of Alabama, expresses a musical preference for "Carry Me Back To Ol' Virginia," that's news. It makes collecting "Musical Autographs" of famous people an interesting hobby.

Rep. Enory Price, of Florida, is a sentimentalist. His favorite is "Tonight We Love." Minnesota's Harold C. Hogan likes "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," and New York's Eugene Keogh will listen to "Mambo" for hours.

Bela Lugosi, "That Man Dracula," gave us a laugh by his choice of "I'll Walk Alone" as his pet music, probably as background to one of his juicy murders.

WHEREVER President Roosevelt appears, the band strikes up "Home on the Range," fully convinced it is F. D. R.'s favorite tune. We've discovered, however, that this legend was started by Stephen T. Early, who likes to play practical jokes on the President.

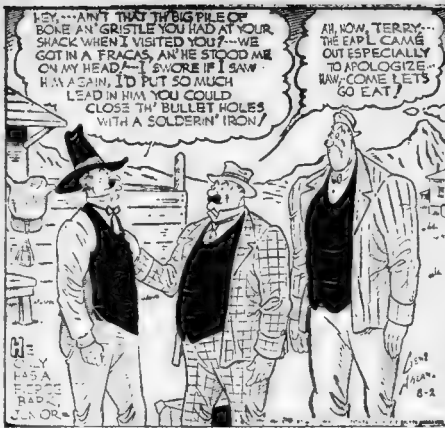

Early knew the Roosevelt didn't care too much for the song and during a press conference said the President's favorite tune was "Home on the Range." Early was right though—the President laughed when he found out about it and after hearing it everywhere he went, he confessed, "You know, I'm beginning to like that tune."

SHOW PEOPLE have their pet songs. Al Jolson still prefers "April Showers" and Eddie Cantor's tune is "Ida."

Maj. de Seversky closes his eyes when he hears "Besame Mucho" and, believe it or not, that grand opera singer, Lauritz Melchior, prefers "Take It Easy." The bad man of the movies, Alan Ladd, likes brother Carmen's tune, "Boo Hoo," and Dorothy Lamour says "Just One Of Those Things" suits her fine.

OF COURSE there isn't always the humorous side to collecting "Musical Autographs."

Many stars back from the fighting front turn their musical preferences over to the men overseas. Bill Gargan came back with a list that long, as did Joe E. Brown, and we have incorporated all those songs into medleys which we play for the men on the fighting fronts. Paulette Goddard sheepishly wrote asking us, if we could play five songs for her instead of one. "Because," she explained, "each of those songs is a favorite of some boy I met and it reminds them of home and family."

WE MUST not overlook that zany poet, Ogden Nash, whose love was cast for "Mairzy Doats," or that "Truth and Consequences" man, Ralph Edwards, who would take the consequences any day as long as it has "Holiday For Strings" in the accompanying music. He'd be in good company, too, Deems Taylor, music critic, also chose "Holiday For Strings" as his favorite.

So it goes on ad infinitum... people and music. Both go hand in hand, and whether you are tone deaf or not, rhythm and music make up a goodly part of our existence.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2—Betty Grable and Alice Faye will not be the leads in

"The Dolly Sisters" despite the announcements. . . . Billy Rose is trying to borrow Carlos Ramirez from Metro for his "Seven Lively Arts."

Eleanor Parker is the current choice at Warners for the Margaret Sullivan role in "The Voice of the Turtle." . . . June Allyson and Steve Crane have been seeing each other. . . . Irene Dunne has composed a song, "Tomorrow's Over Now," which Charles Vidor is considering having her sing in the picture she is now making at Columbia. . . . When "Lawrence of Arabia" goes before the cameras in Arabia and England, Robert Donat will play the role of the famed adventurer.

Eleanor Parker

Bonita Granville and Edmund O'Brien are voicing. . . . Nils Asther returns to Metro to play a role in "Son of Lassie." . . . John Van Druten returns to Metro to direct Brenda Marshall about appearing in his new play for Broadway. . . . Miriam Marx, Groucho's daughter, is a messenger girl at Metro.

MAUREEN OHARA, when she returns to the screen, will have a leading role in William Perlberg's "Slate Fair." . . . Metro has offered Margaret Mitchell practically any price she wants to write an original story for the movies, but she has refused. . . . Richard Crane and Kay Morley, the Goldwyn beauty, are really voicing. . . . Beatrice Kay arrived here to start work in the movie, "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe." . . . Valdesa Surratt, the vampire of silent pictures, has written a story, "Purple Poppies," which William Goetz is interested in for a movie for Gypsy Rose Lee. . . . Judy Garland has been going places with Roger Edens.

LINDA DARNELL and Holmet Dantine are the favorite candidates for the remake of "Mayerling." . . . Veronica Lake is being considered for RKO's "Duel in the Sun," which Andre de Toth might direct after he completes Strombert's "Dishonored Lady." . . . Gloria De Haven and David Rose are voicing. . . . William Gaxton and Richard Haymes playing father and son roles in a picture at 20th Century-Fox. . . . William Cagney wants Esther Fernandez of "Two Years Before the Mast" for James Cagney's next picture. . . . Metro is also considering "Mannon Lescaut" for Hedy Lamour, when she returns to that studio. . . . Cpl. Red Buttons of "Winged Victory" has been signed to a contract by Fred Finklehoffe. . . . Marjorie Riordan and Steve Richards are voicing. . . . Tom Jenk tells about the producer who called a meeting of his writers' staff and asked for suggestions on how to lick a story. There were many suggestions, and then a few moments of silence. "Well," said the producer, "what about some more ideas?" One of the writers spoke up and said: "When you're firing ideas there has to be a pause occasionally." "That's true," said the producer, "but I like enthusiastic pauses." But don't get me wrong. I love Hollywood.

George Holland

Boston After Dark

AT THE AGE of 18, a lovely girl with an all-New England origin and background has just arrived at radio stardom, with a picture contract so nearly in her grasp that it may be jinxed by talking about it. . . . She is Ilene Woods, and for several months radio listeners have been hearing her with Paul Whiteman's orchestra on the Variety-Hall of Fame program. . . . In her native Portsmouth, N. H., "Ilene Woods" will be recognized immediately as Jacqueline Woods. . . . She was born in that seaport city in 1926.

THE NEWS HAS JUST reached this department that Miss Woods has been signed to a five-year contract by the electrical-equipment company which sponsors her broadcasts. . . . Her movie future depends on her personal choice, as three talent scouts are hovering anxiously about. . . . Ilene started her career here in Boston as a child singer on Station WBZD when she was 12. . . . She tried unsuccessfully to get placed with a summer theater. . . . This summer, Miss Woods is alternating between radio rehearsals and appearance and a leading dramatic academy.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: The feuding Dorsey brothers, Jimmy and Tom, have smoked the pipe of peace. . . . The unique settlement of their everlasting battles took the form of a business partnership. . . . Each brother invested $30,000 toward the purchase of Hollywood's ornate ballroom, the Palladium. . . . Helen Hayes in "Harriet" is a Boston booking for early fall. . . . South Boston and Dorchester residents are not complaining about the forsaken appearance of Camp McKay, home until recently of a horde of Italian prisoners. . . . Tanya, featured singer at the Music Box and until the 30 per cent tax went into effect April 1 is singing at E. M. Loew's hotel in New Hampshire. . . . Mr. Loew and Lou Walters are surveying Los Angeles, we hear, as a possible site for another of their jointly-owned Latin Quarters.

COLUMNISTS FROM COAST-to-coast may have been caused a bit of hesitation in extending fervent congratulations to Tamara Toumanova and Cady Robinson, the newweds. . . . In the history of movietown's rash denials of impending romances, no more indignant and emphatic denial was ever made than the one issued by Mr. Robinson when reporters, including this one, published the report of their impending marriage. . . . Toumanova is the graduate danseuse of the Ballet Russe who jumped to stardom in one picture at RKO and Robinson was her director. . . . The two made a ballyhoo appearance together in Boston last month. . . . They were married in an hour-long ceremony in Los Angeles' Greek Orthodox Church the other day.

DAN PARKER DOES an interesting story on Bobby Permaine, the "Sinatra of the Saddle," in a current weekly magazine. . . . But it was Joe Roberts, not John L. Sullivan, who gave the Milford (Mass.) jockey his first important mount. . . . The mount was "Air Master," which Sullivan owns and Roberts trains. . . . The curly-haired Permaine gave the horse a good ride in the Narragansett Special, but was beaten a head on the wire by "Market Wise." . . . The following Saturday "Air Master" and Permaine won the Governor's Handicap. . . . Parker's story reveals that Bobby Clark, the comedian of "Mexican Hayride," is Jockey Permaine's godfather and was responsible for giving the boy the middle name of Constantine, which he dislikes intensely.

BOB HOPE'S "NEVER LEFT HOME" has sold more than 350,000 copies, but there's an edition at $1. . . . Clifton Webb will return to Broadway in a play as yet untitled but in which a character called "Waldo," the Webb role, is seen as an attempted reconstruction of the late Alexander Woollcott. . . . Bud Abbott and Lou Costello have cancelled their projected tour of New England one-night stands.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

Steaks Ration Free Aug. 15

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (INS)—Authoritative sources declare that ration points on utility grades of beef steaks and roasts will be reduced to zero Aug. 15 and that points will be placed on pork loins this month, compromising the dispute between OPA and War Foods Administration.

WFA ordered OPA to take both utility and commercial grades of beef steaks and roasts off rationing on Aug. 1, but OPA refused, contending that if both utility and commercial grades of beef were removed from rationing there would be too little beef left to make rationing of good and choice grades practical.

Rex Cecil Will Give Red Sox Needed Help

By JACK CONWAY

TOM YAWKEY and Eddie Collins are doing their utmost to get the baseball material Joe Cronin needs to win an American League pennant with the Red Sox. The acquisition of Pitcher Rex Cecil from the San Diego club of the Coast League is the latest move on the part of Yawkey and Collins to keep the men of Cronin up in the pennant fight.

Cecil will come to Boston with the reputation of being a strikeout king. He leads the Coast League in the matter of strikeouts and also in games won.

It is understood that Tom Yawkey gave a large amount of cash as well as three players, Johnny Lazor, utility, and pitchers Lou Lucier and Joe Wood, for Cecil. In the years he has been in Boston baseball, Yawkey has never hesitated when it has come to paying for a player he felt would aid his club in the pennant race.

On one occasion, Yawkey was criticized by a sports writer for spending $4,000,000 on his Boston club.

"What business is it of anyone if I wish to spend my money for a ball club rather than for yachts, expensive homes and other luxuries?" asked Yawkey indignantly. "I like baseball. It is my hobby as well as my business, and I feel I have a right to spend what money I can afford on the Red Sox."

Joe Cronin has needed pitching badly which is why Eddie Collins, with Yawkey's approval, made the deal for Cecil. It is expected that Cecil will win his share of games for the Sox. Cecil has a medical discharge from the armed services, and will be available in 1945 as well as for the remainder of this season.

Cronin Improved Pilot

JOE CASIMAN, capable baseball expert, tells me that Joe Cronin is an improved manager now that he does not play regularly.

"Cronin has managed the Red Sox well this season," said Cashman. "Sitting back on the bench, Cronin has been able to play out his moves carefully, and they have proved very successful."

"One of the chief reasons why Cleveland, which has first class material, has not done so well as it should is because Lou Boudreau is a playing manager. Boudreau is one of the greatest shortstops in the game. In his last appearance in Boston, he gave one of the most brilliant exhibitions of playing shortstop ever seen in this city. "The pressure of playing and managing has told on Boudreau. He has got excited at times, and has got into unnecessary disputes with his players. Boudreau, as was the case with Cronin when he was trying to play and manage his club at the same time, has had much trouble handling his pitching staff. A playing manager has not the time to give this important task the time and attention it requires."

"The Yanks are still up in the flag fight on account of the managerial genius of Joe McCarthy. He sits back and cashes in on the mistakes of other pilots. McCarthy has only an ordinary ball club this year, but he has got very far with it."

Stopping the Browns

"THERE HAS been much talk about stopping the Browns who are still well entrenched in first place, but no club has been able to do so. Unless the Sox or one of the other leading teams close in on the Browns, the Logic will have a monopoly on the World Series in October.

"The Cardinals are a cinch to win the National League pennant, while the Browns continue to set the pace in the American League. There are better clubs in the league than the Browns, but none of them keep going at a winning clip long enough to take over first place."

Cashman says night baseball loses its attraction when there are too many night games.

"A limited number of night games prove special attractions," said Joe. "but it has been found that when a large number of games are played under the lights they do not draw any better than day games. It is better to play six or seven night games and draw 200,000 persons than it is to arrange 14 or 15 night games and draw 250,000."

"Baseball made millions for its owners before there were night games and synthetic double-headers. The Yanks, the greatest ball club of modern times, got along very well without the aid of night baseball and double-headers on Sundays. If one has the class in baseball, you find plenty of support from the public."

West Roxbury Springs Upset

Only two days ago West Roxbury was practically out of the Park League race for the playoffs. But the short space of 48 hours can and did make a whole of a difference. The Radley coached club upset all the dope on Monday by trimming the Linehan Club, while Hicks Engineering was held to a tie, and then took the Arsenal in stride to tie with Hicks for a sixth place berth.

Tonight West Roxbury travels over to Garvey Field, Neponset, to tangle with Lawley's and a victory would put them two points up and practically a sure bet to make the grade as Hicks is idle and the Engineers' next game is with the powerful Navy Yard, Friday night.

In the only other game tonight, the Casey Club meets the Navy Yard at Lee Park, South Boston. The Yarders took the measure of Caseys earlier in the week in a great ball game and tonight's game should be no exception. As these two clubs run one-two in the standings, tonight's game is a preview of the playoffs battles that start next week.

Sox Flop Final Game, Now Head for Fenway

By FRED HOEY

A bit bedraggled and weary after blowing the final to Cleveland 8 to 4 yesterday the Red Sox are wending their way home, where on Friday at Fenway Park they open with a twin-bill against the Washington Senators.

LEAF'S BOSS IN NORMANDY—Maj. Conny Smythe, until the war, boss of the Toronto Maple Leafs, is active in France as an artillery officer with the Canadian forces. Weary Braves Start Tough Trip on Road

By BILL GRIMES

Although they moved out of the cellar and are now in a tie with the Phillies for sixth place, since they returned from their last western trip, the Braves had a poor home stay, losing eleven out of the twenty games.

Upon their return to Braves Field, the middle of last month, the Coleman snapped out of the slump, which had limited them to three wins in the West. They opened up with two victories over the Dodgers, thereby running the Brooklyn losing streak to 15 straight. But, one bad inning, during which the Dodgers scored seven times, cost them the final game of that series.

Then, they went to work on the Chicago Cubs and grabbed three in a row. However, in the fourth and final game, Ben Cardoni made two bad pitches, one to Bill Nicholson, in the first, and another to Dom Dilessandro, after his mates had tied the count for him, and the Braves dropped a 4 to 2 decision to Cholly Grimm's charges.

Going into the second game of the Cardinals' series, the Braves had won six out of eight. Then, they fell apart, dropped three straight to Billy Southworth's league champions, lost three out of four to Cincinnati and the odd game to the Pirates.

NO FAULT OF PITCHERS

Although the defeats were charged against them, the Braves' pitchers performed well enough to have given the club a profitable home stay. In game after game they were victimized by faulty support. However, they hung on courageously but to no avail. It wasn't in the books for them to win.

Nate Andrews showed the effects of the strain on Monday and Jim Tobin, behind whom the Braves have been particularly porous of late, lost his second game of the Pittsburgh series yesterday.

The unfortunate part of the Braves situation is that there is nothing that can be done about it. President Bob Quinn has been trying to make deals which he felt would help his club. But he didn't have anything the other clubs wanted.

The loss of Connie Ryan tossed a monkey wrench into the working parts of the Braves' infield. Bob Coleman has been experimenting with a very mediocre assortment of replacement material.

The Sox were clearly outplayed in yesterday's final at Cleveland hitting and pitching. Tex Hughson fell flat and was nipped for 11 hits for a total of 15 bases, enough to win any ball game. Lipping Jim Bagby wasn't around at the finish so that we soon have on the crowd alone. Some guy named Post gets credit for the Indian win.

It's great to get men to first, to second and to third out the primary objective in baseball is to get those bases across the plate. That is exactly what the Red Sox failed to do yesterday. Fourteen runners left stranded. Ball games are not won that way.

But the Croninmen did all right on the trip. The count for the entire trip was 16 and 10 and in the west 9 and 5. The boys get to town tomorrow. Something might be stirring concerning the immediate military future of Bobby Doerr and Lou Finney. The draft boards will make the announcement.

BLAZING BEN IN AGAIN

Shades of the "War for a Lost Cause," and the Alabama Choo-Choo, Blazing Ben Chapman, old Red Sox outfielder, returns to the major league wars as a pitcher. He joins the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Firebrand Ben has been pitching for the Richmond, Va., team of the Piedmont League which he manages. Ben has won 13 games and lost five.

Dispatches from Richmond reveal that Chapman has control, but neglected to add whether this control was on the ball or the temper. Blazing Ben must have smartened up since leaving Fenway Park. He chooses the Brooklyn Dodgers.

He wants Leo Durocher on his side. Leo, on the coaching lines, can do almost as good a needling job as a Singer sewing machine. Yes, Blazing Ben has smartened up.

As baseball values go the Pacific Coast League is nothing to rave about. Joe Cronin, a West Coast native, admits that. But a big right-handed pitcher like Rex Cecil, who has won 17 games for San Diego, must have more than a prayer and an expense bill. We shall see.

Browns Flag Bound, 51-2 Games in Lead

(By Associated Press)

St. Louis boasted a 5½-game lead in the American League today after brushing off eastern opposition in 11 of 16 starts to pace the western clubs to a decisive triumph in the fourth interseasonal series of the season.

While the Browns operated on home soil, the traveling Cardinals wound up their second tour of the Atlantic seaboard with a fancy 14 of 17 win record as all western Nationals broke 500 or better.

RED SOX IN FIGHT Only the Boston Red Sox, who won 9 of 15 starts, upheld the honor of the East in either league with a few scattered games to be played before the clubs head home. Washington, winner of only one in 16 and loser of 11 straight, hit bottom with an .063 mark for the tour.

Sig Jakucki hurled the Browns to an 11-6 nod over the Nats last night with Very Stephens' four hits helping to send Dutch Leonard down for the eighth time. Boston fell before Cleveland, 8-4, but kept second place when the Yankees lost to Detroit by the same, 8-4, score. Tex Hughson's three-game win streak was snapped by Cleveland's Ray Poat in a relief role and Ernie Bonham's six-game string was broken by Detroit's Dizzy Trout who won his 16th.

Philadelphia nosed out Chicago, 2-1, as Gordy Maltzberger lost his third game in a relief role to Joe Berry when Buddy Hall tripled and scored on Hal Pong's long fly in the 12th.

The Cardinals and Mort Cooper avenged Monday's beating by Brooklyn when they walloped the Dodgers, 14-3. Cooper, belted out in three rounds the night before, ceased to win No. 14 behind a 17-hit barrage off Whit Wyatt and four successors. It was Wyatt's first start since June 28 due to arm trouble.

HEUSNER RUINS GIANTS Cincinnati pulled out a tight 3-4 game from New York on Ed Heusner's fine relief pitching and hitting. The Redleg pitcher singled in the ninth and scored the winning run to beat Harry Feldman. Frank McCormick drove in four of Cincinnati's runs.

Pittsburgh held a 12-8 lead on Boston when their game was called at the end of the eighth by agreement. It went as a "suspended" game to be completed Sept. 25. Eddie Dahlgrenger hit six runs with four hits, including a homer, and Dutch Neiman of Boston hit for the circuit twice. A Chicago-Philadelphia double-header was postponed because of a bus and trolley strike in Philadelphia.

Last Chance to Get Into Swim Carnival

Entries in the three New England A. A. U. title events, to be held Sunday afternoon at the South Boston Yacht Club as features of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser-American-Sunday Advertiser and 200-yards freestyle relays for all ages.

This meet, with 19 events on the program, will be held in conjunction with the Mass. Youth Committee whose activities this past winter and summer have been responsible for two of the races on the program.

These events will be 25-yard free style and backstroke tests for boys and girls 10-11 years of age. All contestants, qualifiers from seven elimination meets held last month at various beaches, have learned to swim this season through the combined efforts of the Mass. Youth Committee and the Learn To Swim program sponsored by these papers.

Other finals of the eliminations will list 25-yards freestyle and backstroke for 12-13 years old; 50-yards freestyle, backstroke and breaststroke for 14-15 year olds.
